

Prot. REL 06/07

Ancona, 7 June 2011

To All
UNIADRION Members

Dear Colleagues,

I'm honoured to announce that Università Politecnica delle Marche (Ancona, Italy) offers the opportunity to graduates coming from Universities joining the Uniadrion Network to attend a PhD Course in Ancona. This proposal has been elaborated with the aim of re-launching the network by enabling students to carry out mobility experiences and to be acquainted with our training and research processes.

The offer is restricted to graduates coming from Uniadrion Members outside Italy. They will have the opportunity to choose one of the Courses offered by our five PhD Schools belonging respectively to the Faculty of Agriculture, Economics, Sciences, Engineering, Medicine and Surgery.

They will apply for specially reserved places without the necessity to take an exam, their admission will only be subject to their CVs and academic careers evaluation.

They won't be requested to pay for enrollment fees, offered by Università Politecnica delle Marche.

We will offer special contributions in order to support the students' life in Ancona during the PhD Course.

The Call for Applications to PhD Courses starting in January 2012 is currently under elaboration. We will send it to you as soon as possible.

You are kindly requested to forward this offer to any of your students or young graduates who might be interested in attending a PhD Course at Università Politecnica delle Marche.

Kindest regards.

The President
Prof. Ing. Marco Pacetti
